The Brownfield Communities Network

Founded by a group of the nation's leading local brownfield leaders, the Brownfield Communities Network is a national network of local communities working to demonstrate how the cleanup and redevelopment of contaminated property can be an effective tool for community revitalization.

The Brownfield Communities Network provides a forum for communities across the nation to overcome brownfield barriers and share lessons learned regarding tools, strategies, resources, and partnerships. If you have not already done so, please join the Brownfield Communities Network today!

The First Annual Network Summit

On June 2-4, 2004 experienced and new brownfield leaders will gather for the first annual Brownfield Communities Network Summit in Washington, DC. Please join us to share your experiences, explore common obstacles, learn about new brownfield redevelopment approaches, and communicate the views of localities to local leaders.

The Summit will feature interactive peer-to-peer discussions on pressing issues facing localities:

- Redeveloping Railfields
- Cleaning up and Renewing Salvage Yards
- Strategies for Small Sites
- Local Government Acquisition of Brownfield Properties
- Brownfields Funding and Financing
- Conducting All Appropriate Inquiry
- Community Involvement
- Redeveloping Sites with Petroleum Contamination
- Redeveloping Brownfields in Small and Rural Communities

The Summit will provide opportunities to learn more about:

- EPA and Congress' brownfield priorities
- Working with the private sector
- Financing brownfields redevelopment

Invited speakers include:

- Administrator Leavitt, Environmental Protection Agency
- Assistant Administrator Marianne Horinko, Environmental Protection Agency
- Secretary Alfonso Jackson, Department of Housing & Urban Development
- Assistant Secretary David Sampson, Economic Development Administration
- Senator Lincoln Chafee
